

SHARING INFORMATION ABOUT PURCHASES

ABSTRACT

A facility for notifying a first user about a purchase made by a second user is described. The facility detects that the second user has purchased an item. The facility further determines that the first user has a purchase notification relationship with the second user. The facility then provides to the first user a notification that the second user has purchased the item.

Copyright © 2006